VERMONT INSTITUTE OF NATURAL SCIENCE

VOL. 25, No. 2

SPRING 1997

1 March-31 May

Anne T. Aversa, Interim Seasonal Editor

Below normal temperatures, major April snow storms, and the coldest May on record made for a difficult spring birding season. March temperatures averaged only 26.9 degrees, 3.8 degrees below normal. The month came in like a lamb with above normal temperatures, and went out like a lamb with a daytime high of 59 degrees F on the 29th. The middle of the month, however, saw colder than normal readings. A cloudy month, March produced 27 inches of snow.

April continued with below average temperatures. A 14 degree reading on the 9th, highlighted a cold snap which ran from the 8th through the 15th. An April fool's snow storm dumped 2 feet of snow in southern areas. The month ended with a high of 73 degrees. Another storm produced 8.5 inches of snow on the 18th but rainfall totaled 1.22 inches below average.

A cool, cloudy, and breezy May, one of the coldest in history, also recorded temperatures 4.9 degrees below normal with less than normal precipitation. Snow fell on a cold May 7th with highs reaching only 47 degrees. May 16 produced one of several significant warbler fallouts at Red Rocks Park in South Burlington. VINS birdathon was held on May 17, a cold and windy day, and participants located fewer than normal species for the date.

During the season, waterfowl and passerines were buffeted by wind and cold on their northward migration. They often made appearances only to withdraw with the return of unfavorable weather conditions, as was observed on March 7 when 275 Canada Geese headed south from Grand Isle. Local nesting birds were found on territories by the end of the season.

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

Due to an editorial delay, this issue of RVB has been published out-of-sequence. The following individuals deserve special thanks for helping to get this issue to press: Keypunching volunteers, Laura Craft, Bonnie Dundas, Polly Foley, and Martha Woods for entering all the data; interim seasonal editor Anne Aversa for taking on the responsibility of compiling the data; and Julie Nicholson, whose tireless energy and dedication is evident in each issue of RVB.

NOTES ON THE DOCUMENTATION OF RARE BIRD SPECIES

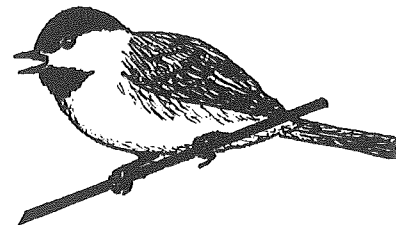

The Vermont Bird Records Committee (VBRC) emphasizes the importance of detailed, descriptive documentation of all rarities, rare nesting species or out-of-season species. It is frustrating for both the observer and the committee to have a tantalizing sighting of a rare species rejected for listing due to insufficient details.

The committee is anxious to involve all Vermont birders in producing as accurate a Vermont state list as possible. This list and all documentation must be credible to future ornithologists who will use the material for research.

In the field, writing down the salient points of identification, talking into a tape recorder, making a sketch or taking a photograph are ways to help with accurate recounting later.

The Rare Species Documentation (RSD) form is both for filing the reports and is intended as a guide for the information needed. After completing the first page, reporters may prefer to write the description of the bird on a separate sheet of paper while also checking the form for the details requested. The committee welcomes suggestions for improving the reporting and voting process.

Again, the VBRC expresses its thanks to all observers who have contributed valuable information to the Vermont state list.

RECORDS OF VERMONT BIRDS is published quarterly by the Vermont Institute of Natural Science. A one-year subscription, which includes the newsletter "Vermont Birds", is $12. Contributors are advised to send accounts of rare or unusual bird sightings to VINS as soon as possible, or to call the Vermont Bird Alert (802-457-2779). Regional summaries of bird sightings are due to VINS promptly at the end of each season. Sighting cards are available from the Vermont Institute of Natural Science, 27023 Church Hill Road, Woodstock, VT 05091-9642, or by calling (802) 457-2779.

LOONS THROUGH WATERFOWL

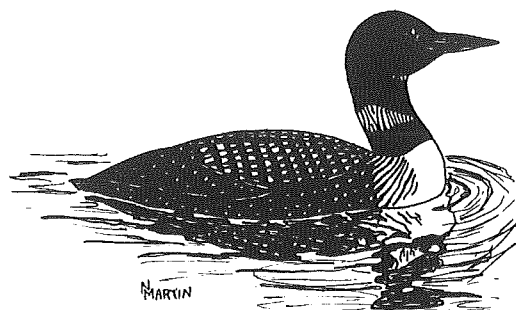

By the end of March biological clocks were ticking and waterfowl began moving. Huge numbers of waterfowl waited until late March or early April to appear (note the 23,000 Snow Geese on April 2, the 3000 Canada Geese on April 1, the 26 Gadwall and 26 American Wigeon on March 29, the 1100 American Black Duck on April 12, the 1200 Mallard on March 28, the 222 Northern Pintail on March 29). The ice was late going out of the state's waters and Common Loons often made their appearances on the same day. With snow still on the ground a Ross' Goose was seen by David Hoag on April 1 in Grand Isle. Two pairs of Barrow's Goldeneyes showed up in South Hero on April 2. A sixth State Record Forster's Tern appeared on April 8 in Shelburne Bay and was observed by Sue Wetmore, Edna Jones, and Terry Hall. Despite the weather, Ospreys began nest building on April 22. Other highlights for April included a Eurasian Wigeon, and 2 sightings of the Greater race of Canada Goose. On May 22 a Great Egret was seen at Dead Creek Wildlife Management Area.

HAWKS THROUGH WOODPECKERS

While Vermont Hawk watchers reported depressed numbers of Northern Harriers, Sharp-shinned Hawks, Broad-winged Hawks, Red-tailed Hawks, and American Kestrels, 2 Golden Eagles were seen — an immature on April 22 observed from Mt. Philo by Ted Murin, and an adult on April 26 reported by Liz Lackey. With 8 species of owl reported, it was a good year for the Strigidae. Grand Isle especially was an owl haven with a late season Snowy Owl on April 20, a Short-eared Owl remaining until April 15, and a Boreal Owl heard on March 30. Two Long-eared Owls were also located. Woodpeckers seemed unaffected by the weather and on April 22 a male Red-headed Woodpecker was found in Bridport, and on April 30 a pair of Red-bellied Woodpeckers were seen in Middlebury. The latter species also appeared at a feeder in Thetford on May 15. Ruby-throated Hummingbirds made a good showing with 12 observed in Pittsford and Peacham on May 11, and an amazing 125 or more feeding in an orchard in Grand Isle on May 26. Whip-poor-will continued a poor showing with only 4 reported.

FLYCATCHERS THROUGH HOUSE SPARROWS

On March 6, nine and one half inches of snow fell accompanied by blizzard-like conditions that knocked out power in many locations. Snow Buntings made a great showing at this time, as did comet Hale Bopp in the evening skies. Even with 14 inches of snow still on the ground in some areas on March 9, an out-of-season Yellow-rumped Warbler was found by Frederick and Eleanor Pratt in Bridport. Purple Martins were late appearing and passerines in general were disrupted by the strange weather with several unusual species sighted. A seventh State Record for Clay-colored Sparrow was accepted for a bird seen on April 6 by William J. Norse, and another bird seen on May 29 by David Hoag in Grand Isle was accepted as a hybrid by the State Records Committee. A Yellow-throated Warbler appeared on May 25 in Danby, and a single Loggerhead Shrike was seen on three occasions in Ferrisburg near the west side of South Slang — the first appearance for this state-endangered species since 1987. On May 5 and again on May 9 a first State Record Painted Bunting visited Susan Klein's feeder in Shelburne. A 6th State Record of Worm-eating Warbler was discovered by Pam Hunt in the Brattleboro area on May 8, and on May 17th an Orange-crowned Warbler appeared in South Burlington. A first State Record Cassin's Vireo was seen by Scott Morrical et al. at Red Rocks Park in Burlington on May 21. This species is the western counterpart of our Blue-headed Vireo. Sue Wetmore, M. L. Webster, and Betty Barbaraise located a Sedge Wren on May 26 in Sudbury. What would have constituted a first State Record for the species, a Scissor-tailed Flycatcher was seen by Cecil and Barbara Hoisington on May 26 in Bethel. This sighting was accepted as hypothetical by the Vermont Bird Records Committee because the reports were not strictly independent.
